

elevates it is the extra outdoor space which makes the property feel more like a house than an apartment. It is an ideal property for families as children have so much space to play outside ,or ideal for those with pets, and it is certainly large enough for permanent living if you are not looking for a holiday home.

