gardens. It is a real privilege to be able to live on the shores of the Mediterranean in a quiet area of the coast, yet with all the amenities that even the most demanding person could need. Calahonda has become a very popular and sought-after residential area due to its proximity to Malaga International Airport (less than half an hour away by car) with direct access also via the toll motorway, its proximity to the center of Marbella (about 10 minutes by car), its sandy beaches, restaurants and beach clubs, leisure areas and, of course, its sports facilities, including tennis clubs, paddle tennis clubs, personal training and state-of-the-art gyms. The urban areas are surrounded by Mediterranean nature, pine trees, paths for walking and outdoor sports.
